Project Description

Covenant House New York/Under 21 provides comprehensive health care to adolescents who are homeless. The program operates a diagnostic and treatment center in a shelter in midtown Manhattan.

Services

The clinic is located in the Crisis Center and is easily accessible to youth experiencing homelessness. It is a fully equipped clinic with on-site laboratories and x-ray facilities. The clinic is staffed by a medical director, pediatrician, physician assistant, pediatric nurse practitioner, and RN. Comprehensive primary health services, mental health services, social services including eligibility assistance, substance abuse services, and outreach services are provided. Covenant House operates Community Resource Centers in all five boroughs to provide social services where clients dwell.

Linkages

Additional substance abuse services are provided through a variety of drug treatment programs. Linkages have also been established with other organizations serving youth who are homeless, including Hetrick-Martin, Community Health Project, Empire State Coalition, StreetWorks, Women in Need, Turning Point, Phoenix House, and DayTop. Clients are referred to local hospitals for supplementary services.

Project Description

Serving the Manhattan neighborhood of Harlem for nearly two decades, Harlem United has been providing housing, health care, and related services to primarily African American and Hispanic people living with HIV/AIDS who also struggle with homelessness, poverty, substance abuse, and/or mental illness. The Central and East Harlem community districts face some of the highest rates of mortality, poverty, and unemployment in New York City, and experience some of the highest homelessness rates within the borough of Manhattan. The homeless populations health status is disproportionately poor when compared to the general population, particularly for chronic and communicable diseases. Since 2007 Harlem United operates a Health Care for the Homeless (HCH) Program targeting the homeless populations of Central and East Harlem and surrounding areas regardless of their HIV status.

Services

To increase access and eliminate barriers to care, the HCH Program will operate during daytime, evening and weekend hours, and will employ culturally and linguistically appropriate staff. Most importantly, the HCH Program will operate a comprehensive coordinated, high-level quality medical care program within a system that fully engages the targeted individuals into medical care, while also integrating clients into a wide realm of supportive services. The HCH Program will operate out of two sites: 123-125 West 124th Street and 179 East 116th Street. The scope of services will be responsive to the specific needs of the homeless population, and will include preventive health services, management of chronic conditions, mental health, substance use, and dental services, referrals, outreach utilizing a Lay Health Promoter approach, and intensive case management.

Project Description

The New York Children's Health Project (NYCHP), a program of Community Pediatric Programs of The Children's Hospital at Montefiore Medical Center/Albert Einstein College of Medicine, offers homeless families and street youth access to an enhanced medical home at 14 locations throughout New York City. Founded in 1987, NYCHP is one of the original grantees under the McKinney Act.

Services

NYCHP delivers primary health care services to children and their caregivers at nine transitional homeless family shelters, a drop-in center and residential facility for runaway street youth, two domestic violence shelters, and the program's hub site. Women and children from scattered domestic violence shelters and safe homes across New York City are also brought into care at NYCHP sites through a special initiative. Operating out of mobile medical clinics or at on-site clinic space, health care teams consist of pediatric and family medicine providers, nurses, mental health professionals, a nutritionist, and support personnel.

The program's bilingual mental health team, made up of a clinical psychologist, a psychiatrist, and three social workers, provides counseling and referral, substance abuse prevention/referral, case management, and entitlements assistance. Other NYCHP services include nutrition, women's health care, HIV testing/counseling, subspecialty referral management, asthma treatment, health education, and a pediatric early literacy program. The NYCHP provides pharmacy services through accounts maintained at selected local pharmacies and covers the cost of medications not covered by Medicaid. Patients can reach NYCHP medical providers 24 hours a day, seven days a week through a toll-free number. The NYCHP's state-of-the-art computerized electronic health records system allows the program to serve its highly transient patient population using wireless hand held tablet computers at mobile medical units and shelter clinic sites across the city.

Linkages

NYCHP's Referral Management Initiative ensures compliance with subspecialty referrals and uses a hospital based family health worker and an active transport service to facilitate this process. NYCHP referrals provide linkages with Montefiore Medical Center, many other hospitals for emergency and other specialized services, and social services agencies, including early intervention programs, domestic violence services, drug treatment programs, legal services, WIC and food stamp programs, emergency food, and public assistance and Medicaid offices across the city.

Project Description

Project Renewal has been providing services to homeless adults in New York City since 1967, including housing in shelters, transitional and permanent housing, social services, mental health services, substance abuse services and primary medical care. The 330(H) grant currently covers the entire primary medical care services located at three shelters and on three mobile medical vans.

Services

Project Renewal provides primary medical care including complete history and physical exams, STI and cancer screening, vaccinations, management of chronic disease, laboratory and pharmacy services, and referrals for specialty care. All medical sites are licensed under New York State's Article 28, and include shelter-based clinics at our three adult shelters, two male shelters and one female shelter. We also have three mobile medical vans, one targeting adults, one targeting youth age 14 to 25, and one providing radiology services - screening mammography for breast cancer screening and chest x-rays for tuberculosis screening. Additionally we provide psychiatric services at the shelter clinics and on the mobile vans. A full-time dental clinic is housed at one of our shelter clinics. Optometry is provided at one of our shelter clinics on a part-time basis, and Tele dermatology is available at all sites through a collaboration with SUNY Downstate Department of Dermatology. Our program also includes HIV prevention, screening and primary care services with a team of case managers, a nutritionist and an HIV specialist physician. Our medical program frequent refers to a variety of Project Renewal's substance abuse services, including outpatient treatment, medical and nonmedical detox settings, and long term residential drug rehab.

Project Description

The SRO/Homeless Program of St. Vincent Catholic Medical Centers–St. Vincent's Manhattan is one of the original 109 HCH grantees funded by HRSA following the McKinney Act of 1987. Services for persons who are homeless began in 1969. Today, services are provided at 32 sites in Manhattan, 2 in Brooklyn, 1 in Staten Island, and 1 in the Bronx. From 1984 through 1989, the department's former chairman directed the National Health Care for the Homeless Program, funded by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation and PEW Memorial Trust.

Services

The HCH project employs teams of physicians, psychiatrists, mid-level practitioners, nurses, psychiatric nurses and psychiatric nurse practitioners, social workers, HIV counselor, outreach staff, and other staff to work at outreach locations. The teams provide direct medical care, outreach, case finding, Directly Observed Therapy (DOT) for Latent Tuberculosis Bacterial Infection Therapy (LTBI), health screening, health education, case management, crisis intervention, and long term counseling, performed on-site on a regular basis. The program also provides substance abuse counseling, treatment of mental illness, and HIV care. When single adult clients are in need of more complex diagnostic testing or treatment, they are enrolled in one of the SRO/Homeless clinics at the hospital's outpatient clinic. An inpatient initiative focuses on improving medical care and coordinated discharge services at the hospital.

Linkages

The HCH project is closely linked to other programs serving individuals who are homeless, including Volunteers of America (managers of major shelter), Women-in-Need (sponsors of a variety of services for women and children, focused on substance abuse), Partnership for the Homeless which operates Peter's Place (drop-in center for men and women), Project FIND (single occupancy hotel for elderly persons who are homeless), Urban Pathways which operates the Oliveri Center (drop-in center for homeless women with mental illness) and Open Door (drop-in center for men and women with substance abuse problems), John Heuss House (drop-in center for men and women in the Wall Street area), St. Francis Residences (for homeless men and women with mental illness), Church Avenue Merchant Block Association (runs shelters and drop-in centers in Brooklyn and the Bronx), and Education Alliance (operates two programs for elderly people who are homeless). Praxis operates two SROs for ex-felons and Bowery Residence Committee is a multi-service agency that provides case management and social services, as well as the Center for Urban Community Services and Project Hospitality in Staten Island.

Project Description

William F. Ryan Community Health Center delivers primary and preventive health care services to individuals residing in four transitional living facilities and one non-profit mental health rehabilitation agency.

Services

The Health Care for the Homeless program provides comprehensive medical and mental health services at the West End Intergenerational Residence, Regent Family Residence, The Bridge on the Upper West Side, and Harriet Tubman and Convent Living Centers in Harlem. The program provides primary care, mental health counseling, substance abuse counseling, HIV services, case management, nutrition, and health education. HCH patients are referred to the Ryan Center for sub-specialty care, WIC, dental services, obstetrical and gynecological care, and radiology services.

Linkages

The resources available to Ryan's HCH patients vary within each facility. Ryan Community Health Center is the sole provider of hands-on, comprehensive health care, nutrition education, HIV education, counseling, testing, and case management at each facility. Other services include mental health services, substance abuse counseling and referrals, and entitlement assistance where these services are not provided by the facility's staff. The HCH team maintains linkages with all other provider organizations at each facility to ensure coordination and case management of these services. The center maintains a backup agreement with St. Luke's/Roosevelt Hospital Center for inpatient care and for referral to specialties not provided at the Ryan Center.
