Project Description

Central City Concern (CCC) was founded in 1979 to provide pathways to self-sufficiency through active intervention in poverty and homelessness. CCC services have developed to include a continuum of care, including health care, chemical dependency treatment, mental health services, case management, special needs housing, very low income housing, workforce development, and employment services.

Services

Central City Concern health services provides primary care that is integrated across several dimensions at the Old Town Clinic. Services include allopathic & naturopathic primary care, complementary care, mental health services, and recuperative care. Urgent dental care is provided by volunteer services from Medical Teams International. CCC has multiple programs for outpatient mental health and chemical dependency treatment, case management, recovery mentoring, outreach, and supportive housing and employment services. CCC provides medically monitored detoxification and outreach services at the Hooper Center. Agreements with area hospitals for uninsured and managed care contracts for Oregon Health Plan clients provide access to specialty providers and hospital care. CCC also provides 1,309 units of low-income housing, including 934 units of single and family alcohol and drug free community housing units (ADFC). CCC also provides job training, development, and placement services.

UDS Number: 107920

Project Description

Safe & Sound (S&S) uses a multidisciplinary team approach to provide medical, mental health, and substance abuse treatment within wraparound services, including shelter, transitional housing, education, employment, and assistance to meet basic needs. Once a relationship is established with staff, youth develop individualized plans and identify useful tools. Services are accessible through any of eight partner doors. The S&S clinic is a satellite of Community Health Centers of Lane County.

Services

Safe & Sound Homeless Youth Clinic provides medical, mental health and substance abuse services for homeless, runaway, and at-risk youth. In addition, youth receive sexual assault support services, HIV education/testing/counseling, health and safety education, shelter, transitional housing, case management, and other supportive services. The day access center provides forums for youth to access basic needs, such as food, clothing, showers, and telephone.

Linkages

Safe & Sound has received considerable support from many sectors of the community, including the government, health professionals, hospitals, businesses, foundations, and other social service organizations. S&S works with Lane County Child and Adolescent Behavioral Health, Department of Public Health, and PeaceHealth

Hospital. In addition, S&S provides a balanced approach to working with youth that includes businesses, public safety, and social service agencies working together to address the complex issues of homelessness.

Project Description

The Multnomah County Health Department operates the Westside Health Center, a large primary care clinic located in downtown Portland. It also provides services to a satellite clinic located within a local dining hall in Southeast Portland. In addition, the Health Care for the Homeless Program also operates a smaller primary care clinic, La Clinica de Buena Salud which targets health care services to homeless families in a largely Hispanic Community.

Services

The HCH has strong linkages with the Coalition of Community Clinics, the safety net clinics. We have worked with Corrections Health to take discharges directly from the County Jail and prisons. The clinic also accepts weekly referrals from ten local agencies. The satellite clinic is located in the St. Francis Dining Hall, which also houses a social worker.

Project Description

The Native American Rehabilitation Association of the Northwest (NARA-NW) provides integrated health, mental health, substance abuse treatment, and social services to Native American and Alaska Native people who are homeless or have low incomes. NARA-NW has been providing services in the Portland area since 1970. NARANW primarily serves people living in Oregon and Southwest Washington. The NARA-NW community health center operates one primary health clinic, a satellite clinic within the residential substance abuse treatment center, an outpatient mental health center, an outpatient substance abuse treatment center, a residential substance abuse treatment center, and a small pharmacy.

Services

NARA-NW provides health, mental health and substance abuse treatment services that are culturally specific to the needs of American Indian and Alaska Native people. These services are often coupled with social services and supports that enable access to services such as case management, transportation, and housing assistance. NARANW has more than 100 staff deployed across four sites and in the community.

Linkages

NARA-NW has linkages with area schools, the region's Departments of Health, other community health centers, substance abuse treatment providers, and homeless services providers. NARA-NW also has linkages to the region's tribes and other Urban Indian programs.

Medical Director: Wayne Sells, MD, MPH

UDS Number: 106290

Project Description

Outside In uses interdisciplinary and alternative medicine to reach the hardest to serve homeless and marginalized populations, including homeless youth, injection drug users, Latino day laborers, and sex workers. In 2005, the clinic was dually funded as a Community Health Center. The agency also operates extensive homeless youth social services, including mental health counseling, housing, drop-in, employment services, and an alternative school.

Services

Outside In provides primary care and health education. Through staff physicians and partnerships with medical schools, Outside In provides allopathic, naturopathic, and Oriental medicine and acupuncture. The clinic offers mental health and substance abuse services to its established clients through primary care integration and specialty mental health services. Dental care is provided by volunteer dentists through contract with Medical Teams International using their mobile dental van. Outside In's medical director and attending physicians oversee medical residents and 4th year naturopathic students in providing services. Staff MDs have admitting privileges at Oregon Health and Sciences University Hospital. Staff at Outside In does extensive outreach, referrals, and social work wrap-around services. 50% of support staff are bilingual English/Spanish and provide interpretation services. All other interpretation provided through contract by a phone interpretation company. Outside In has a small pharmacy located on site for its established patients. The Outside In clinic has mutual referral relationships with other safety net clinics and a referral network of private medical specialists who see patients free of charge. The program conducts medical outreach using a full-service mobile medical van equipped with two exam rooms, waived lab, bathroom, and charting area. Outside In also operates a tattoo removal program for gang-involved youth. The agency operates 2 Dog Day-Care Centers - an employment training program for homeless youth and social enterprise generating revenue.

Linkages

Outside In has reciprocal referral relationships with Multnomah County's Downtown Clinic and Old Town

Clinic, both of which serve low income and homeless adults. Outside In also has referral arrangements with the Native American Rehabilitation Association which serves Native Americans of all ages.

Director: Chuck Gerard

HCH Coordinator: Chuck Gerard

Medical Director: Molly Anderson, MD

UDS Number: 100700

Project Description

White Bird Homeless Health Care (WBHHC) project serves people who are homeless in the Eugene-Springfield metropolitan area.

Services

WBHHC provides primary medical and dental services, including immediate, ongoing, and preventive care, at a joint facility centrally located in Eugene. Basic laboratory work and medication are provided. Access to specialists, diagnostic services, and hospital admissions are arranged. Staff includes physicians, dentists, dental assistants, a psychologist, a hygienist, nurses, counselors, EMTs, acupuncturists, and mental health, crisis, and substance abuse workers. WBHHC provides 24-hour crisis counseling as well as screening, evaluation, and referral for mental health and substance abuse services. The project's Crisis Assistance Helping Out On The Streets (CAHOOTS) street intervention team is a part of the public safety system. A range of mental health treatment is available through the agency's PATH project. Detoxification is provided. Project enhancements include a vision clinic, providing free eye exams and eyeglasses, a full dental program, outreach eligibility work, medication funds, community case management, and a new HOPE (Social Security Assistance) project. More than 100 volunteers work in the project, including physicians, dentists, optometrists, opticians and hygienists from the community.

Linkages

Ties exist with the entire Eugene human service network, including government, nonprofit, church, and private entities. Health system linkages include hospitals, the health department, specialists, labs, diagnostic services, and professional societies (medical, dental, optometric, and hygienist). The project works cooperatively with local shelters, detox, public safety, and local hospitals. WBHHC is a member of Lane County's mental health, substance abuse, medical, and information/referral systems. Coordination is arranged through the 100% Access Project, Community Mental Health Consortium, Lane County Substance Abuse Coordinating Group, Eugene's Community Response Team, and WBHHC's Interagency Management-Planned Approaches to Community Treatment (IMPACT) Network. WBHHC is also a member of the City of Eugene's Public Safety/911 system through CAHOOTS, its mobile intervention team.
